Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1- 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nikander et al U.S. Patent No. 6,253,321 B1 in view of Fink U.S. Patent No. 6,289,463 B1.

As to claims 1, 3, 5, 13, 15, 17, 25, 27 and 33-36, Nikander et al discloses intercepting a portion of outgoing network data characteristic of the operating system [column 5, lines 41-53].

Nikander et al does not teach masking the portion of outgoing network data to impersonate a different operating system in accordance with a security policy if the network is an untrusted network. Nikander et al does not teach replacing the portion of outgoing network data with data characteristic of the different operating system.

Fink teaches impersonating a different operating system in accordance with a security policy if the network is an untrusted network [column 5, lines 23-38]. Fink teaches replacing the portion of outgoing network data with data characteristic of the different operating system [column 6 line 55 to column 7 line 20].

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Nikander et al so that the firewall would have missed the portion of outgoing network data to impersonate a different operating system in accordance with a security policy if the network is an untrusted network.

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Nikander et al by the teaching of Fink because certain operating system more vulnerable to attacks. Therefore, if it were an untrusted network, you would not want an outsider to penetrate your operating system.

As to claims 2, 14 and 26, the Nikander teaches discarding the portion of outgoing network data [column 7, lines 39-67].

As to claims 4 and 16, the Nikander teaches that the security policy identifies the portion of outgoing network data and specifies an action to take to mask the portion of outgoing network data [column 8, lines 1-12].

As to claims 6, 18 and 39, the Nikander teaches that the security policy further defines the network as untrusted [column 8, lines 1-12].

Art Unit: 2131

As to claims 7, 19 and 29, the Nikander teaches receiving the security policy through the network [column 8, lines 1-12].

As to claims 8, 20 and 30, the Nikander teaches modifying the security policy based on user input [column 8, lines 57-67].

As to claims 9, 21 and 28, the Nikander teaches transmitting the portion of outgoing network data unchanged if the network is a trusted network [column 7, lines 39-67].

As to claims 12, 24 and 32, the Nikander teaches that the method is integrated into a firewall that protects the computer [column 5, lines 54-67].

As to claims 10, 22, 31, 37 and 38, the Nikander teaches the method further comprising:

intercepting a portion of incoming network data, as discussed above; and sending a false response to the portion of incoming network data to impersonate the different operating system in accordance with the security policy if the network is an untrusted network [column 7, lines 39-67].

As to claims 11 and 23, the Nikander teaches that the security policy identifies the portion of incoming network data and the false response [column 7, lines 39-67].
